Indigenous Land Stewardship (ILS) Program

Main Campus

Native Education College (NEC) opened its doors in 1967 and became British Columbia's largest private Indigenous College. NEC's purpose is to contribute to an Indigenous, holistic experience that positions the Indigenous learner to uphold their responsibility and obligations to their family, and nation of origin as autonomous Peoples. NEC provides culturally relevant education and training for Indigenous Peoples to pursue career aspirations and enhance academic goals in alignment with their diverse cultural identities and traditional knowledge. The NEC longhouse offers access to many resources and in-house support that includes cultural and spiritual support, funding, counselling, and career advising from a culturally authentic lens.

The successful candidate will teach three 3-credit courses per term to develop students' understanding of critical issues involved in Land stewardship and environmental knowledge. Students learn how different world views have developed among Nations in BC and elsewhere, and how Indigenous knowledge systems can be used as tools for better land management.
